Review.

My favourite Play.

lex Recently I saw this notice in an English-language magazine "Theatre World" for teenagers. That is why I want to give ~~a~~ piece of advice to all readers.

I had an opportunity to visit the Bolshoi Theatre in Moscow last month. I am still impressed by an amazing play named "Pavel I" by Dmitri Merezhkovski.

Gr. The ^{beginning of} story of the story dates back to 1796.

Gr. There were many historic events that are depicted in this play. The most shocking scene was performed when Pavel I was killed by his close friend and son. There were many characters. ~~the~~ For example, Alexander the First, the wife of Pavel ¹²⁹ and so on.

The costumes were wonderful. I thought that I was in the XVIII century and felt part of it.

Gr. Women were dressed in ~~an~~ beautiful dresses that were colourful. ¹⁵⁴ Men were wearing typical clothes for ~~that~~ ¹⁶² time.

Everyone could feel the amazing atmosphere because the special effects and music that was chosen properly and was turned on in the most intrigue moments. So, due to the ~~to~~ dynamic plot and good play of famous actors it was a pleasure to be there.

Cultura cu. m. m. m. m.

I would whole-heartedly recommend you to visit this play because everyone should know the history of Russia and this play is good for people of all generations. Everyone will enjoy it.

Some time ago when I was quite young listened to this story of love about Romeo and Juliet. At that time I haven't thought about the book too much. I mean, I was just a small boy and I wasn't quite interested in the matter of love. Like all boys I was more into the cars or the computer games. That particularity led me to the thought of trying to read these old books of mine in the future again because it might be even more interesting than it was before. Imagine my surprise when I saw the picture of the same story which I thought about, even more - It was going in the Theatre! It was even more so the whole story was authentic to nowadays. At that exact moment I knew that it was my last chance to watch it on the scene. With that thought on my mind - I got to the Theatre and I wasn't regretting for that! It was amazing experience. Story took part in the 21st century so the whole plot was changed to the point that it was hard to associate with the original! Actors were very pretty and their play was concentrated on the problems of the modern society such as a need for fame or the distant love. Costumes were a mix of a new and old fashion which give me the chills! If you would ask me to come to a play like that again, then my answer ^{will be} is yes! That play was absolutely marvellous. I hope that you would enjoy that spectacular scene just as much as I did.

Nowadays ~~such~~ such kind of entertainment as going to the theatre is becoming less popular. One may say that it is extremely harmful for our cultural education. But there is a way out. People can watch various plays on TV at home. Recently I have watched "The Swan Lake" on TV. So now I would like to tell you about it.

"The Swan Lake" is one of the most popular plays of all times. Actually, I have watched this play twice and, to tell you the truth, watching it on TV at home is not so exciting as going to the ¹⁰⁰ theatre and watching the live performance. This play is said to be one of the most beautiful ones and I absolutely agree with it. The costumes of all characters were designed with a lot of attention and each of them is a masterpiece. As for the characters themselves the actors not only have brilliant acting skills but they feel their characters. And it is very important. The story is about an enchanted young

My family has a tradition to visit the theatre at least once in two months all together. Usually we go ^{to} ~~in~~ the theatre named after M.S. Schepkin in Belgo-rod. And this october was not an exception.

The play was called "A connection of Saints", and originally this novel was written by M. Bulgakov. I can not name this story "a story for Kids", because it is about private life and discussions ~~with~~ the monarchy of Molier - famous "theatre director", in modern words, of XVIII century. The end is tragical - he dies, but it is not a ~~ex~~ culmination of the play. You should ~~see~~ see it and find out!

I was absolutely stunned with costumes of female characters such as Molier's fience and her "sister". Also artists, who worked with costumes, have made a great ~~work~~ job with a costume of the monarch. Because of the historical play, they needed to ^{make} ~~do~~ it look ~~as~~ familiar. And they did it.

I can't express all my ~~fit~~ feelings on a paper. So my strong advice to ~~the~~ ^a reader of "Theatre World" is to watch a play "A connection of Saints"!

From the huge amount of the characters my favourite is the guardian in Molier's theatre. Please, notice his role!

WRITING

Hello "Theatre World", I want to write about a play ~~ay~~ I have recently watched in my local theatre. It was not very good to say at least.

First of all, the start of the play was delayed. The reason for this was not announced, so people have to wait unknown amount ~~to~~ of time in a theatre hall downstairs. After 30 minutes of waiting, we were finally allowed to proceed to our seats. I didn't know what to expect. Now I think that it is a pity that I didn't return my money and go home.

Let me give you some information about ³⁰ a play. It was a comedy. The script writer was previously known for ~~one~~ of his ~~a~~ oldest works. ~~He~~ For many people that was the reason to watch his new play. And so it starts. ~~*~~ Everyone ~~one~~ was immediately shocked of ~~a~~ how silly was the story. It seems that the writer lacked skills in writing. The characters were dull.

It was unpleasing to watch after their actions. The only good thing was their costumes. They were really well designed.

All in all, I don't recommend this play to anyone. It is really bad and will, for sure, ruin your feelings about theatre plays.

WRITING

Two days ago I have watched an unforgettable play called "Romeo and Juliet". This play really amazed me and I decided to write a review of it.

To begin with, "Romeo and Juliet" is a work of the famous English author William Shakespeare. It is a story about two young people who fell in love with each other and carried on loving till the end of their days.

The main characters are a boy called Romeo and a girl called Juliet. Their families have been enemies for a long time so it was the main reason which prevented the main characters from meeting with each other very often. However, they meet several times during the play and their meetings were truly heart-warming and emotional at the same time. At the end of the story both Romeo and Juliet die. I think these ^{two} were the most heart-breaking moments ever.

As for the costumes, they were fabulous and suited the actors perfectly. These costumes made the atmosphere of the play very attractive.

I would really like to recommend this play to other people because it is interesting to know how two people from completely different families fight for their rights to love and to be loved. What is more the actors were so great that it was almost impossible not to feel this atmosphere. Do not miss the opportunity to watch this play.

WRITING

Recently on TV I have seen "Romeo and Juliette" by William Shakespeare. The play was amazing, never before did I think that I would like a theatre play and enjoy it more than an action film. The story is about two lovers from different, constantly arguing families of Montecchi and Kapuletti. Deep feeling of Romeo and Juliette were facing obstacles and problems but still they were loyal to each other. ^{And} ~~But~~ to make it even more interesting, I will not tell you about the ending anything but that it is so dramatic and touching and I hope this might make you watch the play.

Perfectly made costumes allow you to dive into the atmosphere of the XV-XVI centuries. All the decorations make the viewer think that he is a part of the play.

Characters fit their actors so much, that sometimes you forget that everything what happens is just a play. Watching the play makes you laugh and cry, feel joy and fear.

To come to a conclusion, I would definitely recommend everyone to watch this masterpiece, even if you haven't read the book.

WRITING

Dear readers, in my review I want to ~~totally~~ tell you about a theatre play I watched recently. Theatre is my greatest passion, so that is why I attend drama classes at my school, the play I watched was held there and my friends were playing in it. It was ^{the great} William Shakespeare's play "Romeo and Juliet". It is a sad love-story about two teenagers who couldn't be together because their parent ~~were~~ hated each other. Romeo and Juliet killed themselves because of their impossible love union. I didn't really like the costumes as they were not suitable for the time period when the play was written but the actors were great. The way they played even made me cry a little.

I'm not a fan of this play, simple because I think that it is silly to kill yourself over a boy or a girl. I think they both were ~~too~~ young and unwise to ~~understand~~ that they were doing. I would recommend to watch it for self-education.

~~As for me~~ Personally, I am not a man of culture. But three weeks ago my friends invited me to watch a play in our local theatre. So today I want to ~~write~~ review one of the most famous plays ever. It is called "Romeo and Juliet" and it is written by - you guessed it - William Shakespeare.

First of all I want to ~~ad~~ admit that I have never been in a theatre before. So I was really & very impressed by the theatre itself. And the play was awesome! Starting with the plot. ~~The~~ This story is about Romeo and Juliet, two young people from conflicting families. They should have never met each other but ironically they fall in love. And then there is a complicated story which leads to a death. The play was set really great. I ~~was~~ liked the actors and also their costumes. ~~The~~ Their costumes looked really like you would expect them to be. ~~upbeat~~.

To sum up, I want to say that you must ^{watch} ~~check~~ this play in theatre, because theatre gives you a unique experience. You will like it! ~~Expressly~~

The "Romeo and Juliet" play review

A few days ago I watched a play called "Romeo and Juliet" in the local theatre. This was something brilliant.

Let's start with the plot. ^{gr, sp} The main characters are Romeo and Juliet who fell in love with each other but it is very unlikely they will be able to be together as there are a lot of different circumstances which do not let them unite such as the ^{social} difference of their families and a wish of their parents to break them apart. The story is quite sad because ^{gr, sp} it ends with the death of characters.

The actors' play is incredible as it should be. They really make you feel as you see the original story in the street centuries back.

^{gr.} Costumes organised very well. They fit the time the story had happened.

^{~ sp} I'll truly ^{from my heart} recommend to watch such play ~~because~~ because it teaches a lot especially younger people not to make quick unreasonable decisions. Also everyone should watch it just ~~to~~ enjoy the professionalism of the actors and the quality of costumes. And ~~Thank you for your attention~~ ^{sp} for real lovers of theatre art I would recommend to visit Moscow and to watch this play in the "Bolshoy" theatre to get ~~to~~ unforgettable memories and to truly appreciate the writer's labour.

WRITING

Recently I have seen an interesting play in a small local theatre, that was started by a group of theatrical enthusiasts. This play ^{is} ~~was~~ called "France". It is about a tragical destiny of a woman, the main and only character, who is telling her story. She tells about how she never really loved her husband who she has family with and how ~~the~~ actual love of her life abandoned her. The character is filled with despair and she doesn't even see the point of her life anymore, now that she had lost her family and her love. Since the theatre ^{has} had not really high budget, decorations were quite minimalistic. Needed equipment was mostly brought by the actors from home. That is why on stage there was only the actress in a simple dress, a suitcase and some furniture. So what is particularly interesting about this play is how, lacking money for proper decorations and having only one actress playing, they managed to not only attract audience's attention but also to leave a mark on our souls; the story made us think. That is what I find really important in theatrical art in general. The play was successful only because of talented actor and hard director's work, their way of ^{creative} demonstration. That is what I find important in theatrical art. It is about how the play makes you feel and if it gives you serious thoughts and "France" totally managed doing it.

WRITING

In the beginning of October the Big Theatre of Chicago ^{the public to see} offered the play called "Hamlet" which was based on the William Shakespear's book "Hamlet, the prince of Denmark". I felt lucky to get a ticket to this play because this theatre is said to have amazing performances. However, the reality did not meet my expectations and there are some reasons why.

Firstly, I did not presume that the play which is based on a book will turn out completely different from the original. The story was enlarged with several unneeded scenes. None of the spectators were likely to understand the hidden meaning of those episodes. Furthermore, the directors of the play made the screenwriters change the end of it. The story finished with everyone being alive and happy which seriously contradict with the original ending of the play. Fortunately, they did not change the characters. However, some of the parts were played really poorly. The girl who played Ophelia ^{I was} often forgetting her words. Also, Floratio was played by a bulky man with a beard when his character ought to be played by quite a younger person. This did not happen to be the worst thing of all. The biggest problem was the costume set. They made the usurper of the throne look like a teenager! Besides, all the costumes were a bit dirty and too big in size for some actors. All in all, this is not a play to be recommended. If you want to enjoy classic Shakespear, ^{you should} never come to the mentioned theatre. The play here was ruined by changing the story, hiring unprofessional actors and presenting awful costumes.

As the world is constantly changing, some things may totally disappear from our lives. For example, TV and the Internet decreased the popularity of the theatre. However, it made it more available and easy to 'visit'. All you need is to find the play you want and watch it anytime you can. As for me, I haven't been in theatre for years but recently watched 'Romeo and Juliet' by the greatest writer William Shakespeare on TV.

The main characters are young and beautiful Romeo and Juliet. They symbolize the real love in this play. They are from rich families which happened to be enemies. Other members of their families try to separate the loved ones and make everything they can to stop their relationships.

The costumes were incredible. With the help of modern technologies, TV gives us the opportunity to see even the smallest details. The dresses are very elegant due to the fashion of Shakespeare's time. The costumes of the males fit them perfectly. They let us to feel the atmosphere of the play and century in general.

The story tells us about Romeo and Juliet who are absolutely in love with each other. Though their families made it difficult for them to be together, they are not the ones to give up. Their love is so strong and real that they can't imagine their lives without each other. It's sad to realise that the only way to be happy for them was to die.

All in all, this play is absolutely amazing and I would

Last week I saw the play in my town's Dramatic theatre. This play was called "Evgeniy Oregin" and it was one of the best theatre plays I have ever seen.

The plot was completely the same with the original book written by Alexander Pushkin. This was a play about young man Evgeniy who decided to move to the countryside from St. Petersburg after his uncle's death. There he met his new friend Vladimir who invited him to the family dinner which was held by Larins' family. Young Tatiana Larina fell in love with Oregin and wrote him a letter. However, Evgeniy didn't ~~stare~~ feel the same so he just laughed at her and broke her heart. Later he has understood that he really loves Tatiana but it was too late because she has already been married.

In my opinion, all the actors were great. Their emotions and acting skills helped the audience understand all worries and feelings of the main characters. Moreover, the level of costumes and decorations was very high. All details of those century's clothes were included and everyone on the stage looked stunning. There was a beautiful music during some scenes and it helped people to understand the mood of the ~~next~~ following scene.

As for me, I think that "Evgeniy Oregin" is a worth-seeing play. It is about love, hate, friendship and revenge. But what is the most important thing - it's about people and their feelings. So, I whole-heartedly recommend this play to everyone.

WRITING

Recently I had an opportunity to watch a play based on the ~~story~~ ^{written} novel "The Fathers and the Sons" by A.I. Turgenev in "MHAT imeni Sp. Gorkogo". I really liked it, so this is my review.

The story tells us about differences between old and young, parents and their children, nobles and folk, men and women. Two friends, Bazarov and Kirsanov, come from the capital for holidays to Kirsanov's family house. Bazarov who is praised by his friend is not really liked by Kirsanov's family. The story continues with much more conflicts. And even if it was written in 19th century, it is still very impressing and you would not get bored or by it.

The characters are very well-written and believable. They are not ideal, they have their own faults and their own joys. You would definitely find your favourite one.

Everything which was connected with the theater was high-qualified. The actors were lovely, they really fitted their ^{characters} roles. Decorations also were quite good, they were appropriated for the ^{Sp} ^{Lex}

SP atmosphere. The only thing I did not really like ^{enjoyed} was costumes. Main characters were dressed quite good, but the others looked like they were Gr put on clothes which were stores in ward closet for centuries.

Personally, I truly recommend to everyone to watch this play. You will never regret getting experience like this.

WRITING

Nowadays many people seem to have forgotten about how exciting watching a play can be. Modern citizens often prefer to watch TV at home. However, I think that classical plays will never be fully replaced by anything. That is why I choose to spend my weekends at my local theatre.

The latest play I saw was called "Revisor". The main characters were the authorities of an unknown Russian town. The story describes all of the chaos happening due to their crimes and corrupcy. While trying to impress the man they believed to be the Revisor, they unveiled their dirtiest secrets, but failed to understand that he was only an ordinary man, who happened to pass by the town. The play ends with them finally realising their mistake, but the viewer already knows that they will face the consequences of their actions because the real Revisor is about to arrive.

I think that this play is truly fascinating: the costumes seemed very authentic and did a great job portraying the fashion of the era in which the story takes place.

I would defenitely recommend watching this play to other people. However, I think it wouldn't be interesting to children, because they will not understand the satire of this piece of art.

All in all, I think all of us should visit the theatre more regularly. Modern tecnology is convinient, but nothing will replace the joy of watching talented actors tell a story in real life.
